

PAP Smear (Papanicolaou Test)

Screening tests can find cervical cancer and precancer in the early stages, when it can be treated or even cured. The PAP smear is a procedure of taking cells from the surface of the cervix and sending them to a lab. Then, an expert checks the cells under a microscope.

How to Prepare for Your Pap Test?

No preparation is required. Test can be performed anytime regardless of health status or presence of menstruation.

Pap test might feel slightly uncomfortable, but they typically do not cause any pain.

When should I start being screened for cervical cancer?

Women from marriage until the age of 65 should undergo screening.

How often should I be screened for cervical cancer?

For married women aged 18 and older, it should be done every three years if the results are normal.

If you are experiencing any symptoms or signs of cancer, don't postpone — reach out to your doctor or seek medical advice immediately.

For booking and further support , please call us through:

8001180014